SURVIVAL/UTILITY SHOTGUN

With an overall length of only 29.5 inches and a weight of 3 pounds, Rossi's new Tuffy .410 shotgun should be an excellent choice for a variety of uses, such as pest control on the farm or around the cabin, or as part of a survival kit for your SUV, boat or plane, and it looks like it would be just about perfect for dispatching venomous snakes. Its small size and numerous safety features make it an excellent choice for a youngster. This handy little single-shot features a buttstock with a comfortable thumbhole grip and storage capacity for five rounds, complete with indicator. Available in matte blue or stainless, this shotgun has four safety features, including the pioneering Taurus Security System, and it is fitted with powerful ejectors to forcefully kick out spent hulls. To find out more about the Tuffy and the rest of Rossi's lineup of single-shot rifles and shotguns, lever-action rifles and revolvers, visit www.rossiusa.com.

SHOTGUN LOCK

GunVault, a leader in the field of firearms security, has introduced the BreechVault, a new shotgun breech lock that will fit virtually all Mossberg, Remington and Winchester shotguns. It is easily inserted into the breech of the shotgun and locks in place with a key-lock system. Locked in place, it renders the gun inoperable, and it is virtually impossible to pry off with hand tools. Designed for self-defense, the BreechVault, when locked in place nonetheless, permits a round to rest on the carrier. As soon as the BreechVault is removed, racking the slide or pushing the breech bolt release button chambers a shell and makes the gun ready for instant action. The BreechVault is made of extremely tough glass-reinforced nylon yet will not mar the gun. For full information about GunVault products, call (800) 242-1055 or visit www.gunvault.com.

PISTOL BAYONET

Modern technology has permitted the revival of an old-time concept evocative of the cutlass pistols and "Apache" revolvers of yesteryear with LaserLyte's Pistol Bayonet. It has a razor-sharp Ka-Bar blade with a black Teflon coating and a handle constructed from 30 percent glass-filled nylon. It fits on any medium- or large-frame pistol (like the Taurus 24/7 OSS shown) that has a tactical rail in the same fashion as a light or laser. The pistol bayonet could have considerable merit in combative situations at extreme close quarters, and it would certainly make it a lot harder for anyone to attempt to wrestle the gun out of your hand in a disarming move. A polymer sheath is included. To learn more about LaserLyte's lasers, rails, sighting-in devices and other products for the shooter, visit www.laserlyte.com.

CAMOUFLAGED MOSQUITO DEFENSE

The ThermaCELL mosquito repellent device uses a single, replaceable butane cartridge to heat a mat that releases Allethrin, a synthetic copy of a naturally occurring insect repellent. The resulting spray creates a 15x15-foot zone around the user that will be 98 percent free of mosquitoes, black flies, no-see-ums and other annoying insects, while remaining undetectable to game. This 6.4-ounce (loaded), pocket-sized device can be carried anywhere and is much more pleasant to use than smelly, sticky lotions or sprays. Now it is being offered in Team Realtree's APG camouflage pattern so that it can harmonize with your gear and render it less visible to game. For more information on this and ThermaCELL's other butane-powered, cordless devices like scent dispensers to attract game, call 1-800-SKEETERS or visit www.thermacell.com.
